GERMAN U-BOAT ARRIVES IN NEWPORT HARBOR WITH VON BERNSTORFF PAPERS

Submarine Left Wilhelmshaven Seventeen Days Ago—May Be One of Convoy Sent to Escort the Undersea Merchantman Bremen.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 7.—The German submarine U-53 from Wilhelmshaven arrived in the harbor this afternoon. She crossed the ocean in seventeen days.

The U-53 is a man-of-war, flies the flag of the German navy and has a single gun mounted on her deck.

The submarine anchored in the outer harbor two miles down the bay. No one came ashore, but a representative of the Associated Press was allowed to go aboard and learn the vessel's story.

The U-53 will go outside the harbor for anchorage during the night. It has been intimated that when the submarine merchantman Bremen would start on her voyage to New York she would be convoyed by submarines from the regular naval forces.

The U-53 is in command of Lieutenant Hans Rose. She appeared sleek and spry and looked as if she had been out only for maneuvers. Her commander reported he had not sighted any hostile craft on his voyage over.

The boat was plentifully supplied with provisions and fuel and nothing will be taken aboard here.

Shortly after the submarine came in, Commander Rose paid an official call upon Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight, commandant of the Narragansett Bay Naval Station, to whom he stated that he was preparing to leave port to-night.

The newspaperman who boarded the submarine was asked to bring ashore a large batch of official mail for Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, and this was forwarded this afternoon.

While not disposed to discuss the details of his voyage Commander Rose said that he had a sufficient supply of food aboard to last for three months. Besides the Commander, the vessel carried four officers and thirty-three men.

The U-53 was escorted into the harbor by the United States submarine D-4.

Commander Rose explained that the submarine, which is equipped with wireless, had put in here only to deliver official mail for the German Ambassador.

He declined to say whether he had been ordered to American waters to search for the Bremen, long overdue on this side.

Arrival of the German Submarine Rouses Interest at Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—State Department officials were keenly interested in the arrival of the German submarine at Newport. They point out that if she proves to be a warship under international law she must leave the United States in twenty-four hours or intern, except that she may have additional time to make such repairs as would put her in seaworthy condition.

Only such fuel and supplies as would take her to the nearest German port could be secured here.

Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, said he had no idea what the U-53 was doing in American waters. Dispatches to the Embassy have not mentioned the vessel.

German officials when first advised that a submarine had arrived assumed that it was the merchantman Bremen which is overdue.

A representative of the German Embassy will be sent to Newport immediately.

U-BOATS ARE GIVING NO WARNING, SAY BRITISH

Two Recent Cases Cited to Show
Old Submarine Warfare Has Been Resumed.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Terminating an evidence that Germany not only is planning but has actually resumed the sinking of merchantmen without warning the British Foreign Office gave to the Associated Press to-day the official report from two ships recently attacked.

The first steamer was the Anna Lea of Bergen. Her officers report that a submarine attacked the vessel with gunfire on the morning of October 2 without warning. The ship sustained no damage, but her master was ordered to pick up the crew of the Norwegian steamer Cederic, of 1,125 tons gross, which previously had been sunk.

The British steamship Isle of Hastings was attacked by a German submarine and sunk in a rough sea. Ten men were picked up. Nothing is known of the fate of the captain and nine other members of the crew.

MILK BAN LIFTED; 60 DEALERS GRANT LEAGUE'S DEMAND

Big Distributors Expected to Give in To-Day on Six Months Contracts.

DAIRYMEN ARE ELATED.

Normal Quantity Will Be Furnished City by Monday,
Asserts Dillon.

More than sixty distributors of milk in the metropolitan district—but not including Borden, Sheffield Farms, Mutual-McDermott and Stevens corporations, known as the "Big Four"—signed contracts to-day with the Dairymen's League to buy milk at the price fixed by the farmers, approximately five cents a quart.

Members of the Dairymen's League were instructed by telegram that they might release milk immediately to the fullmen signing the new contract. A slight increase in the supply was effected almost immediately when the first twelve distributors signed up at 1:29 o'clock this morning, after a prolonged conference with officers of the League and John J. Dillon, State Commissioner of Foods and Markets, at the Manhattan Hotel.

Forty-two per cent. of the normal supply reached the city to-day, against 38.1 per cent. yesterday.

Officers of the "Big Four" said when they reached their offices this morning they were taken by surprise by the action of the smaller distributors and declined to discuss its effect on themselves. It is expected they will give in to-day.

Commissioner Dillon said: "The battle is virtually won, by Monday the normal supply of milk will be reaching the city, regardless of the action of the big fellows. If they refuse to sign contracts they may find it hard to get milk, for the farmers will not break contracts with the smaller distributors who are ready to take up the whole milk supply."

Under the terms of to-day's agreement the contracts run for six months, subject to the modification that, after the third month the distributors continue to take all the milk, but an adjustment of price is to be made regarding such milk as is not absorbed by the retail household trade and must be sold to butter and cheese manufacturers.

A committee of arbitrators, two representing the Dairymen's League, and one chosen by these four, will make a State-wide study of conditions, aided by the data collected by the Wicks legislative committee, which has been investigating dairy conditions for several months.

The twelve firms which broke the deadlock by signing the early morning agreement are: The Central Dairy Company, Empire State Dairy Company, Clover Farms, Alexander Campbell Company, National Dairy Company, New York Dairy Products Company, Zeller Bros., Inc.; J. C. Rider Company, the Elman and Hawk Company, High-grade Dairy Company and the E. G. Hayland Company.

The Attorney General's hearings on the counter charges of conspiracy, growing out of the milk strike, has adjourned until Tuesday. They may be dropped. A decision as to continuing the investigation will not be reached, in all probability, until Commissioner Dykman, acting under direction of Justice Bijur, calls the hearing to order Tuesday.

Auto Victim Identified.
The man accidentally killed by an automobile at the corner of Broome and Essex Streets last Thursday was identified to-day as Jacob Wanner, twenty-five years old, a carpenter, of No. 140

INSISTS GERARD BEARS GERMANY'S PEACE PROPOSAL

Banker Sabin Assumes Responsibility for the Statement, and Reiterates It.

STATE OFFICIALS DOUBT

Advance Announcement Made to Soften the Effect on the Stock Market.

The New York banker who announced anonymously yesterday that Ambassador Gerard was bringing peace overtures from Germany was Charles H. Sabin, President of the Guaranty Trust Company, the second largest financial institution in New York.

From his country home at Southampton, Long Island, to-day Mr. Sabin telephoned to his secretary to inform the newspaper reporters that he "confirmed and reiterated" his statement of yesterday.

In Wall Street there was confusion and mixed sentiment regarding the peace proposition announcement. Among the brokers of the Stock Exchange whose securities had been hit by the market slump there was furious indignation. They too, under cover of anonymity, made statements vigorously denouncing President Sabin and questioning the motives of his announcement.

The stock market reflected the troubled and disturbed sentiment of the brokers. In technical language it was "soft." The boom of the past month suffered a puncture, and the inflation was gradually seeping out. Prices did not experience any panic drop during the short two-hour session, but there was weakness in many lines, particularly those of munition companies and concerns dependent chiefly on war orders for their profits.

United States Steel Common, which closed last night at 115 7/8, opened up above 116 this morning, but gradually sagged away until it touched a low of 115 1/4. All the leading issues followed about this same line of wavering.

But in the last half hour of the short day's session, after the brokers got through venting their critical opinions, they apparently decided to show their indifference and disbelief in the peace rumors by putting the market up again. They started buying and boosting so that the speculative securities were run up a point or more and closed at the highest of the day and even above last night's closing.

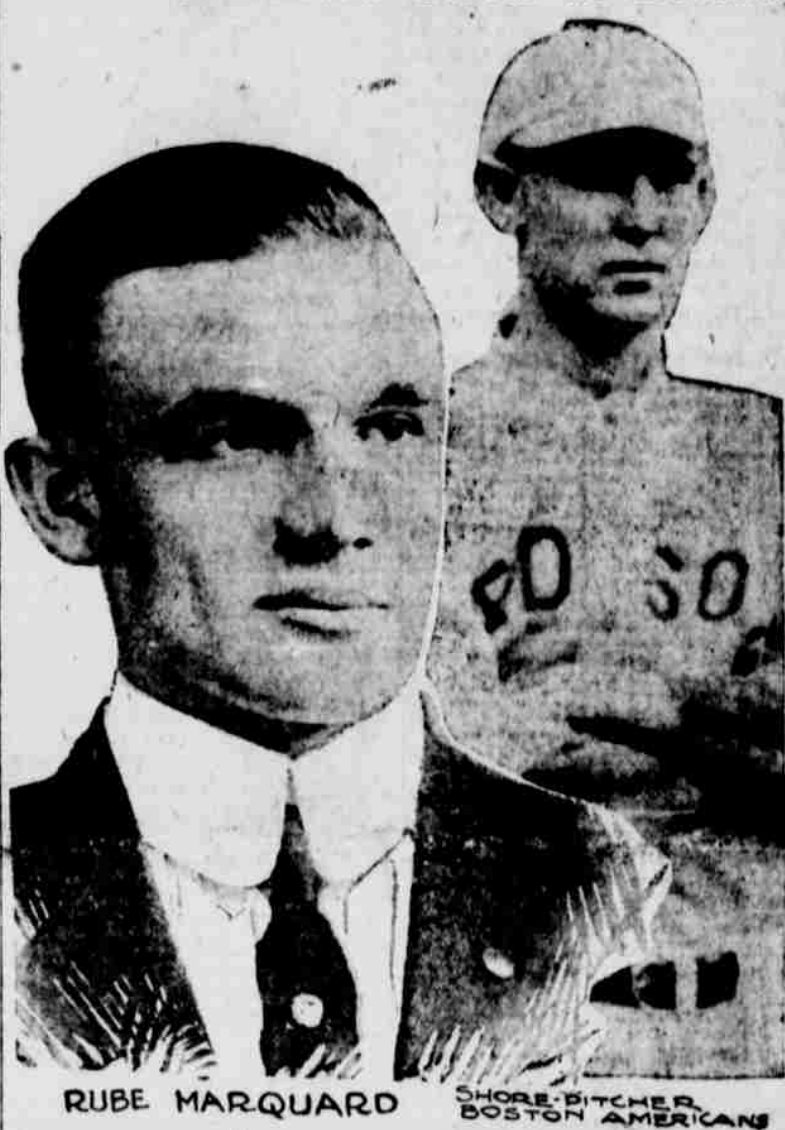

A new theory was put out to-day by leading financial interests to account for the Sabin announcement. The object was not to "rig" the market, but on the contrary to save it from a far more severe panic.

According to this latest information disseminated by Wall Street financial interests, news of the important message that Ambassador Gerard was bearing reached New York on Thursday night. It was known then only to a few men of the inner circle of high finance.

They consulted with President Sabin of the Guaranty Trust Company and called in one of his Vice-Presidents, Max May, who is regarded as having close relations with German finance. Mr. May is in charge of the foreign exchange department of the trust company. Furthermore, the Guaranty is credited with being the American depository of German Imperial funds and also of Ambassador von Bernstorff.

This Thursday night conference is said to have decided that if the public remained in ignorance of impending events until Ambassador Gerard arrived and the message he carried was made public without warning.

BY BOZEMAN BULGER.
BRAVES' FIELD, BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Forty thousand enthusiastic fans were on hand as the Red Sox took the field and the Dodgers went to bat in the first game of the world series.

FIRST INNING.—Shore sent a fast ball straight across the plate at which Myers popped a weak foul to Cady. Daubert struck out. Shore, after whizzing a strike past Stengel, laid a straight one over and Stengel sent it bounding to Janvry for an easy out at first. No runs, no hits. Hooper struck out. Janvry offered at the first thing Marquard pitched—and missed it; he also swung wildly at the second one. The Rubs burned one over that the Boston man missed for a strike-out. Walker, the novice, caught Marquard's fast ball squarely on the nose and slammed it on a line to the left-field fence for a three-bagger. The Rubs tossed a slow one to Hobbs, who went out on an easy grounder that Cuthaw tossed to first. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING.—Zach Wheat drove a slow hopper toward first that was too difficult for Hobbs to handle and it went for a single. Shaw was overcautious in pitching to Cuthaw and gradually worked himself into a hole, Cuthaw getting three balls in a row. He then got a strike over and Cuthaw slammed it into the next one for a clean double play, Janvry to Scott to Hobbs. The Red Sox breathed easier.

Mowrey lined one into foul territory with a vicious swing. The long foul appeared to upset Shore and he gave Mowrey a base on balls. Olson was called out on strikes. No run, one hit, no errors, one left.

Lewis walked. Gardner, the heaviest hitter of the Red Sox, was applauded as he came to the plate. He dropped a bunt in front of the plate. It went for a scratch hit, putting two on bases and giving the Red Sox their first real advantage of the game. Scott went after the first ball and laid a perfect sacrifice in front of the plate. Myers throwing him out at first, as Lewis and Gardner advanced. The Dodgers would take no chances on Cady and gave him a base on balls, filling the sacks. The first ball pitched to Shore split the plate for a strike, and he slammed at the next one, missing it a foot.

Marquard now worked with great caution and struck Shore out on a wide curve. After taking two balls Mowrey smashed a long drive to deep center that "Hi" Myers caught after a beautiful run. No runs, one hit, no errors, three left.

THIRD INNING.—"Chief" Myers hit an easy grounder to the box and Shore threw him out at first. Marquard struck out. Hi Myers laid it into center for a clean single. Daubert fanned just as Myers had started to steal second. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Janvry refused to get after a high one, but fouled a slow one past third. Finally he fanned for the second time. Myers dropping the ball and having to throw to first. Impulsively he held the game up for a moment while he walked out and showed Marquard how to put his foot on the rubber.

The Brooklyn players gave him the laugh. Walker swung so viciously at a fast one that he fell to his knees after fouling the ball to the stand.

FOURTH INNING.—Taking his cue from the Boston sluggers, "Casey" Stengel whanged at the first ball pitched and lined it into left for a single. When following the style of quick attack swung on the first one and lined it against the right field fence for three bases, scoring Stengel. The game was now a pretty running catch. Cady got three balls before Marquard could regain control and a minute later walked. Shore swung like a garden gate at two and then fouled out to Myers. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

FIFTH INNING.—Gardner made a pretty stop of Olson's grounder and threw him at first. Chief Myers laced a long drive into center that Walker lost in the glare of the sun, and it rolled to the score board for a three-base hit. As the Chief lumbered into third Gardner was accidentally slipped in the foot, but it was not serious. Marquard had a great chance to win his own game, but his best was an easy roller to Janvry, who threw him out at first. Myers making no attempt to score. Hi Myers popped out to Scott. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Hooper lifted an easy fly to center, but Myers could not see it in the sun and it went for two bases. Janvry sacrificed. Mowrey to Cuthaw, the latter covering first, and Hooper went to third. Walker singled and Hooper scored. Hobbs' batted out to center. Stengel struck out. Janvry threw out Wheat. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

SIXTH INNING.—Gardner threw out Daubert. Stengel struck out. Janvry threw out Wheat. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.
